Monument to Honor Women of the South.

To commemorate the sacrifice, privation and bravery of the women of the South during the Civil War, ten Southern states will erect—in their capital cities—monuments in bronze or marble, replicas of the original design made by Miss Belle Kinney, a young daughter of the old South. Miss Kinney's father was a Confederate soldier, her mother is a Southern woman, and she herself was born in Nashville, Tennessee, about twenty-three years ago. This young woman, whose art education has been entirely in the United States has thus secured the largest contract for sculpture work ever given to any woman, says a writer in the January Hampton's Magazine.

The monument is a group of three figures, all heroic. The central form is that of Fame bending slightly to set the laurel wreath upon the brow of a figure at the right representing the Southern woman, who is placing the palm of victory upon the breast of a dying soldier boy. The boy is struggling to raise once more the torn and scarred battle flag which he has been carrying. The group is an attempt to reveal the heroism, sympathy, and steadfast loyalty of the Southern women to their soldiers in the field.

DESTROYS SLEEP

Many Lexington People Testify To This.

You can't sleep at night.

With aches and pains of a bad back.

When you have to get up from urinary troubles.

All on account of the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills bring peaceful slumber.

They cure all kidney ills.

R. F. Norfolk, Third Street, Lexington, Mo., says: "I was badly troubled by my kidneys and was unable to get relief. I had rheumatic twinges in my back and I found it impossible to sleep well. The kidney secretions passed irregularly and caused me great annoyance. Being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box and had not used them long before I was relieved."

The above statement was given in May 1906 and was confirmed in detail by Mr. Norfolk on April 30, 1909.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
